

WordPress Resources for Beginners

Presented by “Women Who Code – Tampa” on October 5, 2014 @ WordCamp Tampa

Sarah Vesselov – City Project Manager

Learn More about Women Who Code Tampa @ <http://www.meetup.com/Women-Who-Code-Tampa/>

Start with the Codex!

It goes without saying that every good developer who wants to be great references the Codex. The Codex is, essentially, the WordPress bible.

<http://codex.wordpress.org/>

Keep track of updates and issues with the core.

<https://make.wordpress.org/core/>

WP Beginner

<http://www.wpbeginner.com/>

Understanding Child Themes:

http://codex.wordpress.org/Child_Themes

Various sites devoted to WordPress

Need more advanced tutorials? Try this link:

<http://code.tutsplus.com/categories/wordpress>

Stack Overflow is a fantastic question and answer site for programmers who are stuck and need a hand with frustrating code.

<http://wordpress.stackexchange.com/>

Reddit

<http://www.reddit.com/r/ProWordPress>

Multiple resources and articles available on Smashing Magazine:

<http://www.smashingmagazine.com/category/wordpress/>

This weekly newsletter is published weekly and includes a curated round-up of WordPress news and articles, themes news and releases, plugin news and tutorials.

<http://wpmail.me/>

Great Individual Blog sites devoted to WordPress

Chris Lema:

<http://chrislema.com/>

Carrie Dils

<http://www.carriedils.com/blog/>

Konstantin Kovshenin

<http://kovshenin.com/>

Don't neglect your HTML, CSS, and PHP skills!

The ultimate resource for a variety of programming skills...

<http://www.w3schools.com/>

Devoted to HTML5

<http://html5doctor.com/>

Paid Services for learning code and WordPress

<http://www.codecademy.com/>

<http://teamtreehouse.com/>

Women Who Code Overview

Our Story: Women Who Code is a global 501(c)(3) non-profit based in San Francisco, CA dedicated to inspiring women to excel in technology careers. We provide an avenue into tech, empower women with skills needed for professional advancement, and provide environments where networking and mentorship are valued.

What we do: WWCode has executed more than 900 events around the world, garnered a membership exceeding 16,000, and has a presence in 14 countries.

Current Sponsors: Capital One, Google, Nike, Zendesk, Twilio, Yelp, Box, Minted, and Hired

Press Features: We've been featured in the Wall Street Journal, Cosmopolitan.com, Bloomberg, Diversity Women Magazine and many more

How you can help: Visit www.womenwhocode.com to donate to our cause – your support brings us one step closer to connecting 1 million women in tech by 2019. E-mail us at womenwhocode@gmail.com if you're interested in volunteer opportunities or with other general inquiries.

Contact us:

Website: www.womenwhocode.com

Twitter: @WomenWhoCode

Facebook: www.facebook.com/womenwhocode

WOMEN WHO
CODE

